DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

3. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

4. Claims 1, 3-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bathum et al. (US 7,055,265) in view of Hennessy et al. (US 2005/0151321). Bathum discloses a method of constructing an inventory of a plurality of insole-shape shoe inserts (see Figure 1 embodiment); allocating said inventory into a plurality of categories (running, hiking, walking, water activities); assigning a message to the insert (see Figure 14 embodiment); instructing the user to select one or more of the shoe inserts for placement within associated shoe; and instructing the user to stack the one or more inserts on top of each other. See Figures 1-16 and column 6, lines 8-37. Bathum does appear to disclose the message being a spiritual message and for each of the insert to have a different message provided thereon. Hennessy discloses that messages can be in the form of spiritual message and discloses constructing an inventory of thin articles depicting a substantially different spiritual message on each of the thin articles. The message on the thin articles can be drawings or photographs of a person, place or a thing. The message on each thin article is written and/or organized in a manner not only to motivate, inspire, or educate, but also to influence or persuade the person viewing the information to act on the message, i.e., to adopt a personal behavior consistent with the message. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide a different spiritual message on each of the inserts of Bathum as taught by Hennessy to motivate, inspire, and educate the person reading the message.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
